- 1. General PAK Il-u went to Kaesong with three Chinese Communist officers in early October to try to find a means of straightening out the difficulties between the Chinese Communist and North Korean troops on the western front. Both the Chinese Communist and North Korean troops were inspected by the general's party.¹
- 2. The Soviet clique in the North Korean Labor Party is planning to take moderate action against the anti-KIM Il-song element in the North Korean Army. The Soviet group will use the clashes between the Chinese Communist and North Korean troops as an excuse to eliminate KIM's political enemies. In early October KIM Il-song, HO Ka-1, NAM Il, and other North Korean Soviet Communists met to discuss the action to be taken.
